Urges Publishing Text.

Pregident Wilson, in an address to a delegation of proleague Republi-cans today at the White House, said: "My fellow countrymen: "It is to be feared that the supreme issue presented for your countries."

issue presented for your consideration in the present campaign is growing more obscure rather than clearer by reason of the many arbitrary turns the discussion of it has taken.
The editors and publishers of the country would render a great service if they would publish the fail text of the covenant of the league of nations because, having read that text. you would be able to judge for your-self and a great many things in which you are now in danger of be-ing misled. I hope sincerely that it will be very widely and generally published entire. It is with a desire to reclarify the issue and to assist your judgment that I take the liberty of stating again the case submitted to you in as simple terms as pos-

Three years ago it was my duty "Three years ago it was my duty to summon you to the concert of war to join the free nations of the world in meeting and ending the most sinister peril that had ever been developed in the irresponsible polities of the old world. Your response to that call really settled the fortunes of war. You will remember that the morale of the German people backs down long before the strength that the morale of the German people broke down long before the strength of the German armies was broken. That was obviously because they felt that a great moral force which they could not look in the face had come into the contest, and that thenceforth all their professions of right were discredited and they were unable to present that their continuation of the presented and they were taken of the waf was not the support of a government that had violated every principle of right and every consideration of humanity.

"Summons to Peace."

"It is my privilege to summon you now to the concert of peace and the completion of the great moral achievement on your part which the was represented, and in the presence of which the world found a reassurance and a recovery of force which it could have experienced in no other way. We entered the war, as you land until the court deputy count in remember, not merely to beat terfere.

Germany but to end the possibility of the renewal of such iniquitous chemes as Germany entertained. The war will have been fought in the court deputy count in the court deputy count in land until the work we then began, and I ask you to consider that there is only one way to assure the world of peace. That is by making it so dangerous to break the peace that no other nation will have the audacity to attempt it. We should not be deceived into supposing that imperialistic schemes ended with the defeat of Germany, or that Germany is the into supposing that imperialistic schemes ended with the defeat of Germany, or that Germany is the only nation that entertained such schemes or was moved by sinister ambitions and long standing fealousies to attack the very structure of civilization. There are other nations which are likely to be power-fully moved or are already moved by commercial jealousy, by the desire to deminate and to have their own way in politics and in enterprise and it is necessary to check them and to apprise them that the world will be united against them as it was against Germany if they attempt any imilar thing.

Women Know Sacrifices.

"The mothers and sisters and wive of the country know the sacrifice of war. They will feel that we, have misled them and compelled them to make an entirely unnecessary sacrifice of their beloved ones if we do not make it as certain as it can be made that we are in a surface of the sacrification. made it as certain as it can be made that no aimilar sacrifice will be demanded of mothers and sisters and wives in the future. This duty is so plain that it seemed to me to constitute a primary demand upon the conscience of every one of us, it is inconceivable to most of us, its is inconceivable to most of us that any men should have been so false or so heartless as to declare that the or so heartless as to declare that the women of the country would again have to suffer the intojerable burden and privation of war if the league of nations were adopted. The league of nations is the well-considered effort of the whoje group of nations who were opposed to Germany to secure themselves and the rest of mankind against a repetition of the war. It will have back of it the war bruiness and material force of all these nations and is such a guarantee of a peaceful future as no well informed man can question who does not doubt the whole spirit with which the war the whole spirit with which the war was conducted against Germany The great moral influence of the United States will be absolutely thrown away if we do not complete the task which our soldiers and sailors so heroically undertook to execute.

"One thing ought to be said and said very clearly, about article to of the covenant of the league of nations. the covenant of the league of nations. It is the specific pledge of the members of the league that they will unite to resist exactly the things which Germany attempted, no matter who attempts them in the future. It is as exact a definition as con be given in general terms of the rage which Germany would a committed if it could. Germany lated the territorial integrity of her neighbors and flouted their political independence in order to aggrandize herself, and almost every wag of his-tory has originated as such designs. It is significant that the rations of the world should have at last combined to define the general cause of war and to exercise such concess as may be necessary to prevent such

"Article 10, therefore, is the specific redemption of the piedge which the free governments of the world gave to their people when they en-tered the war. They promised their people not only that Germany would be prevented from carrying out her plot, but that the world would be safeguarded in the future from sim-whether we will make good or quit. We have foined base, and the issue in between the spirit and purpose of the United States and the spirit and purpose of imperialism, no matter where it should assest itself. The spirit of imperialism is absolutely op-posed to free government, to the spirit of imperimism is absolutely op-posed to free government to the safe life of free nations, to the de-velopment of peaceful industry and to the completion of the righteous processes of civilization. It seems to me, and I think it will seem to you, that it is our duty to show the indomitable will and Presistible ma-jesty of the high purpose of the Unit-ed States so that the part we played in the war as salions and soldiers may rowned with the achievement of he crowned with the achievement of lasting peace.

No one who opposes the ratification of the treaty of Versailles and the adoption of the covenant of the league of nations has proposed any other adequate means of bringing about settled peace. There is no other available or possible means, and this means is ready to hand. They have, on the contrary, tried to They have, on the contrary, tried to persuade you that the very piedge contained in article 10, which is the contained in article 10, which is to essential pickes of the whole plan of security is itself a threat of war. It is, on the contrary an assurance of the concert of all the free peoples of the world in the future, as in the recent past, to see listing done and humanity protected and vindicated. This manity protected and vindicated. This manity protected and vindicated, the is the true, the real Americanism. This is the role of leadership and championship of the right which the leaders of the republic intended that it should play. The so-called Americanism which we hear so much prating about now is spurious and invented for party purposes only.

Regrets Party Contest. "This choice is the supreme choice of the present campaign. It is regretable that this choice should be associated with a party contest. As compared with the choice of a course associated with a party contest, compared with the choice of a course of action that now underlies every other, the fate of parties is a matter of indifference. Parties are significant now in this contest only because the voters must make up their minds which of the two parties is most likely to secure the indispensable result. The nation was never called upon to make a more solemn determination than it must now make. The whole future moral force of right in the world depends upon the United States rather than upon any other nation and it would be pitiful indeed if, after so many great free peoples had entered the great league, we should hold aloof. I suggest that the candidacy of every candidate for whatever office be tested by this question: Shall we or shall we not redeem the great moral obligations of the United States."

Woman's Uppercut In Court Colors Eye For Attorney

Traditional alibis for black eyes, regular honest-to-goodness "shiners," Wednesday falled A. J. Calhoun, attorney, for too many friends around the courtheuse knew how it was that the counsellor should be sporting an injured optic. It all happened in chancery court during a motion of a divorce case and the eye blacker was a woman, Mrs. Sadie Holland, mother of Mrs. Gertie Davis, defendant in the case.

of Mrs. Gertie Davis, defendant in the case.

Mrs. Holland, so Calhoun declared Wednesday, is slightly deaf. She misunderstood some remark the attorney, who was representing Perry Davis, compilainant, made during hearing of a motion relative to the custody of the two Davis children. Calhoun declared he said nothing either to or relative to Mrs. Holland.

As he started to walk through the swinging doors of First chancery courtroom, Calhoun, so he explained, feit a tap on his shoulder. Turning he received ze beaucoup biff smack in the right eye. The attorney dropped an umbrella he was carrying and papers and held Mrs. Holland, until the court deputy could interfere.
